

Aromatherapy...A Healthy Idea That Makes Total Scents!!!

Aromatherapy is one of the simplest and most pleasant alternative treatments for stress, anxiety and fatigue. While mainstream American physicians remain largely ignorant of the great benefits of this approach, it has been widely studied and practiced in Europe for decades.

Susan M. Lark, M.D., who specializes in preventative medicine and clinical nutrition in Los Angeles, Calif. says, "I've found it to be extremely effective among my patients for combating stress, anxiety and insomnia, and for boosting energy and alertness."

The basis of aromatherapy is essential oils, volatile liquids usually distilled from plants by steam, which are far different from standard perfumes and artificial fragrances. Traditionally, the oils are thought to carry the basic healing "essences" of the particular plants they are distilled from. Nutritionally, they contain trace elements of vitamins, minerals, enzymes, hormones and substances that stimulate the immune system.

Now You Can Walk Away The Pounds Faster At The Mall...

If you're looking to drop weight, head to the mall! Walking around malls has become a hot exercise craze and for good reason. Women naturally walk faster in a mall, burning off more calories, than they do walking outside, reveals a new study.

Dr. Richard S. Cimbalo, professor of psychology at Daemon College in New York says, "Where you walk makes a difference, and something about the mall, possibly that it's a familiar and safe place may help women get a better workout."

If you walk for exercise your local mall offers several key benefits over the street or an outdoor track. The shopping center is air conditioned, lessening the strain hot weather places on your heart. Mall air is filtered, so you are less exposed to pollen and other airborne matter that trigger allergies. And you don't have to cope with auto traffic.

So the next time you are set to take a walk, head over to the mall.

Aromatherapy...A Healthy Idea That Makes Total Scents!!!

But most of their therapeutic effect is due to the specific chemistry of their aromatic compounds. The oils are taken by inhalation with the help of a vaporizer, a steam inhaler, or simply by holding an oil-dampened tissue to the nose. Once diluted, they can also be absorbed into the body and the nervous system through the skin by topical applications or massages.

The aroma of the oil stimulates the limbic system, the portion of the brain that is associated with emotions and feelings. Inhaling a particular aroma alters brain neurochemistry and produces physiological or psychological changes, often in just a few seconds.

Several commonly available oils are effective in combating stress, reducing nervous tension and promoting restful sleep. These include lavender, chamomile, orange, tangerine, lemon, rose, spruce and ylang-ylang.

Other oils reduce fatigue, boost energy, and increase mental focus, including jasmine, nutmeg, peppermint and rosemary.

Many studies have supported the effectiveness of aromatherapy. Lavender has been found to increase the alpha brain waves associated with relaxation.

A recent study found lavender was as effective as sedating drugs at promoting restful sleep. In another study with lavender, subjects had increased brain beta wave activity (suggesting drowsiness) and felt more relaxed.

If you decide to try these simple, enjoyable forms of anti-stress therapy, be sure to purchase high-quality essential oils, packaged in light-protective dark blue or amber bottles. And never take the oils internally.

Low-Fat, High-Fiber Diet Can Work Wonders For You Too!

Our clients and friends can lose weight and keep it off just like Hollywood stars do with this low-fat, high-fiber eating plan. And the good news is that it doesn't require counting calories!

Joy Bauer, a nutritionist and registered dietitian says, "I created this basic approach to weight loss especially for people who want to lose weight quickly but don't want to be bothered with complicated plans and formulas."

"It's simple, effective and works quickly. If you follow it carefully you'll lose up to four pounds a week easily and continue the weight loss until you reach your target goal."

"I've seen it work for hundreds of men and women who have lost as much weight as they wanted from a few pounds to over 100 pounds. And it's a very healthy approach. After just four or five days you'll feel a definite increase in energy."

"The plan is based on a high-fiber, low-fat diet of about 1,200 calories a day for women and 1,400 calories for men. But it requires no calorie counting. Simply follow the directions."

"Men should add one extra serving of protein each day. I also recommend about ½ hour of exercise every day. This can include brisk walking, jogging, aerobics or any other form of exercise you enjoy. As with any diet, check with your doctor before you begin. Simply follow the sample meal plans on page 3.

Vitamin E Helps Restore Hearing!

Listen up! Vitamin E may prevent hearing loss. Patients who had recently lost their hearing significantly improved after taking 400 mgs. of vitamin E twice a day, a new study found.

Most of the patients who took the vitamin along with traditional steroid treatment got back 75 percent or more of their hearing, while just half of those getting steroids alone recovered.

Researchers believe that vitamin E, a potent antioxidant, works by preventing damage to the inner ear.

THE COOKIN' CORNER...For April!

Hearty Pork And Peppers! Served sliced with roasted pepper, pork loin makes a delicious sandwich.

Marinated Pork Loins With Peppers

Preparation and cooking time: About 1 ½ hours, plus at least 1 day to marinate. Serves 8 people.

- ✓ 4 cloves garlic
- ✓ 6 dried California chilies
- ✓ 1 (3 1/2 to 4 lbs.) pork loin, boned, rolled and tied
- ✓ 6 to 8 red bell peppers
- ✓ 2 to 3 tbsp. mayonnaise
- ✓ salt

TEAR chilies into ½ inch chunks; soak in 1 ½ cups hot water until soft, 15 to 20 minutes. Pour chilies and soaking water into a blender; add garlic and whirl until smooth. Rinse pork, pat dry, and set in a 9 by 13 inch pan; coat with chili puree. Cover and chill at least 1 day or up to 3 days, turning meat over occasionally.

Lift pork from marinade and set on grill, not over heat. Lay peppers over direct heat. Cover barbecue; open vents for charcoal. Turn peppers occasionally until charred on all sides, 15 to 25 minutes total; transfer to a platter; let rest 5 to 10 minutes. Cut peppers in half lengthwise and arrange around pork. Pour reserved marinade into a small microwave safe bowl; heat and stir in accumulated juices from pork roast. Add salt to taste. Slice meat and serve with peppers, adding salt and chili sauce to taste.

Here's How To Get Portion Savvy...

You can become portion savvy by following this easy-to-follow plan based on Carrie Wiatt's Portion Savvy. Portions shown are for readers of medium height. If you are short, deduct 50 percent.

CHOOSE healthy low-fat, high fiber foods like low-fat skinless turkey and chicken, and very lean red meats. Wiatt recommends eating beef no more than twice a month, nonfat milk, fat-free salad dressing and lots of greens.

FOLLOW Wiatt's 60-20-20 plan. Carbohydrates should comprise 60 percent of your daily food intake, protein 20 percent and fat 20 percent.

LIMIT daily caloric intake to 1,200 calories if you're short, 1,800 calories if you're of average height and 2,000 calories if you're tall.

NEVER pile food onto your place. Instead limit the size of your portions. Meat, fish or chicken portions should be no bigger than a pack of cigarettes, pasta or potato the size of a small orange; vegetable or fruit no bigger than a billiard ball.

WHEN EATING OUT, share meals with friends or order appetizers as your main course.

EXERCISE. Burn at least 200 calories on five days of the first week, 300 the second week and 400 the third. You can do this with a 45 minute power walk in week one, a 60 minute power walk in week two and a 90 minute power walk the third.

Got Dry Eyes? Drink More H2O

Doctors have discovered a simple, common sense solution to treat dry eyes - drink more water.

If you're one of the millions of Americans who suffer from dry, scratchy eyes because you spend long hours working on the computer, then you need to up your H2O intake, says Dr. Stephen Cohen, an optometrist from Scottsdale, Arizona.

Drink about one ounce of water for every two pounds of weight. That means a 128 pound woman needs to drink 64 ounces, or eight, eight-ounce glasses a day. Cohen also recommends staying away from smoke and steering clear of over-the-counter medications that take the red out because they can make eyes even drier.

1. Eat five small meals of no more than 300 calories each day, making dinner the lightest one.
2. Eat at least one fat source a day. If you eat only non-fat foods, you may feel less satisfied and eat even more calories. It's better to eat less of the real thing and feel satisfied.
3. Don't resist chocolate cravings. If you want chocolate, eat two Hershey's kisses. It will satisfy your physical craving and won't lead to weight gain.
4. To help reduce menopausal symptoms and decrease the urge to overeat, eat one to two servings of a soy product daily.
